Horatii Satyrarum III.

ACCORDING to your Example, I have affixed a Motto to my Paper: I will curſorily trace you through your Sections, and conclude. ----- I don't pretend to be an Advocate for Pride, but would fain have you diſtinguiſh clearly. You make a meer Devil of your proud Man; and beſides that moſt ſimple Vice which he is liable to in common with the reſt of Mankind, you attribute all ill Actions to him. If you aim at a particular ſort of Men, out of Charity you ought even then to allow a Mixture of good Qualities; if you point at the whole Race, you cannot eſcape the Laſh your ſelf has made. I muſt allow you ſome beautiful Thoughts; but tho' I can only feel for you in the Dark, I muſt, for once, take upon me to be your Father Confeſſor: Are not you proud of the elegant Expreſſion? ----- Entire Abſence? Of the Length of your Periods? Of the accurate Sentence? And this Reſervedneſs is immediately ſucceeded by an entire Abſence of the open and unreſtrained Flow of the Soul, ( ) which, I preſume, is a very diſagreeable Companion among Friends. I take the Meaning to be, that an abſent Perſon is a bad Companion, which, by the By, is a ſmall Iriſhciſm. You ſay that moſt Men expect a Share of Notice and Regard from the World; Is not that a ſort of Pride? Is not this, in ſome Meaſure, a Contradiction to what you would argue for? Are not you proud of this elegant Performance? Of thoſe ſwelling Expreſſions, which ſavour much of the Superb? And don't you think your ſelf above the Level of Mankind? I hope you are ſo unſpotted, that you'll eſcape the roaring Lion you mention, for he's a meer raw Head and bloody Bones. Your Plebean Inhabitants, I imagine, to be a glorify'd Sort of Being, and the Expreſſion not Vulgar; but that of There ſits an Omnipotent, &c. is not altogether ſo elevated an Expreſſion, and conveys to the Mind but a ſimple and groveling Idea of the ſupreme Being. I can't conceive how you, with all your Penetration, ſhould be able to determine the Poſture of the Almighty, ----- Satan, indeed, is the greateſt Inſtance of fallen Pride you could have found out; but you might have conveyed your Thoughts in fewer and leſs ſonorous Words about him, and his Place of Reſidence.

Our Imagination need not take a very ample Range over the animal Creation, to find out the Ant, the Bee, and the Spider, for they are almoſt in every Body's Houſe; but then every Body does not know thoſe elegant Words, Providence, Diligence, and Sagacity, which ſo judiciouſly are apply'd to theſe Animals. Then the new Way of Speaking; --- Exalt Pride up to Humility, --- raiſe Arrogance up to Admiration, --and elevate Haughtineſs up to Submiſſion, is ſo pretty a Manner of inverting Words, that nothing can be like it, unleſs what comes frequently from the Roſtrum. You ſay, that the Heathen Philoſophers, when their Affections, Paſſions, and Weakneſſes flowed in upon them, were convinced of the Abſurdity of Pride, and unphiloſophiz'd into Men: I wiſh you would take their Example: Obſerve if no Weakneſſes, no Paſſions, no Affections hang about you: Diveſt your ſelf of them, unſanctify a little, have an extenſive Charity, and from a rigid Dogmatiſt, become an humble Chriſtian.

LONDON, March 20.

THEY write from Vienna of the 12th Inſtant, that the Imperial Gold and Silver Mines in Hungary and elſewhere, have yielded ſuch Plenty of Gold, Silver, and Cinnaber, laſt Year, that ſome Hundred Thouſands of Ducats have already been coined of that Product at Crimnitz.

Extract of a private Letter from the Hague.

Publick Affairs appear in this beginning of the Seaſon, for Operation to be falling into ſuch a Criſis, as would, if Cardinal Fleury was ſuddenly to quit the Stage, in all probability, precipitate them into a dreadful Chaos, and that before a new Prime Miniſter of France could form a Syſtem; nay, if even the King himſelf ſhould take the Reins of Government into his Hands, and tread exactly in the Cardinal's Steps, the Credit which this Miniſt has eſtabliſhed in ſeveral Courts, would, for ſome Time, be wanting. The Court of Spain continues to perſiſt on refuſing to accede, or in any ſort adhere to the definitive Treaty, unleſs the Determination of the Pretenſions of the King of Naples to the allodial Eſtate and moveable Effects of Parma and Tuſcany be therein compris'd. It is the common Opinion in France, as well as in Italy, that his Catholick Majeſty, the King of the Two Sicilies, and ſome ſay the King of Sardinia, are forming new Projects of ſuch a Nature, that France, as Guaranty of all the Conditions of the Exchange of Lorrain for Tuſcany, will be oblig'd to enter again into Italy, and to ſuccour the Emperor, and the new Grand Duke, and would indiſputably make a Diverſion by attacking Spain on the Side of the Pyrenies. But if the Cardinal ſhould die, Affairs then might take another Turn. This Miniſter has always acted in Oppoſition to Spain, becauſe his Syſtem had no other Tendency than to eſtabliſh a general Peace, whereas the Ambition of the Queen of Spain has been conſtantly exciting her to diſturb the publick Tranquility. A new Prime Miniſter might poſſibly entertain more favourable Sentiments for Philip V. Grandſon of Lewis XIV. It's eaſy to gueſs what a Change of Affairs this would occaſion, and there is ſome Appearance that the Court of Spain has been apt to flatter herſelf with ſuch an Alteration, if any Regard eſpecially is to be had to a Pamphlet which ſhe has lately cauſed to be publiſh'd, entituled, A Letter from a French Man to his Friend at London, in which a Biſhop is made to prove, that if the King of France and the Dauphin ſhould happen to die, the French Nation could acknowledge no other for its King than Philip the Fifth; and that this Prince would be obliged in Conſcience, being guilty of a mortal Sin, and even conſtrain'd by the Pope, to violate the reiterated Oaths which he took upon his Renunciation of that Crown, to return into France and mount the Throne thereof. This Pamphlet was not publiſhed without ſome Deſign, at a Time when both the King of France and the Dauphin were much indiſpos'd.

We have this Moment received the following Letter from Verſailles: 'The 24th, at Eight in the Morning, 'the Fever return'd on the Cardinal De Fleury, with 'greater Violence than ever; at Night his Slumbers were 'broken, and very often interrupted. His Eminency 'is not better this Morning, and his Life is diſpaired of: 'The King went to ſee him Yeſterday, and his Majeſty 'at leaving his Apartment, ſeem'd very much concerned 'at the Condition in which he left him.' And ſo God grant him a good Paſſage into Eternity, before France begins ſuch a Mediation between us and the Spaniards, as ſhe is now carrying on in Corſica.

Paris, March 7. The laſt News we received from the Accademiſts ſent to Peru, was accompanied by a Letter wrote by M. de la Condemine, who is one of them, to M. du Fay, a Member of the Accademy of Sciences, in which he acquaints them, That they are all in good Health, that they have been from Quito to Lima to receive the Sums which they wanted, in order to continue their Journey; that they have ſucceſsfully begun their Trigonometrical Operations; that their Baſe has been meaſured near the Equinoctial Line, and that they have already made ſeveral Triangles, &c. We have great Room to hope that the Voyage of theſe Accademiſts will be as ſucceſsful and uſeful as the Northern Voyage. M. du Fay read in one of the Aſſemblies of the Accademy of Sciences, a Memorial containing ſeveral Phyſical and Aſtronomical Obſervations, which M. de la Condemine made on the Road from Quito to Lima.

They write from Madrid, That the Fathers of Mercy had brought into Carthagena 410 Captives whom they had redeemed at Algiers, and amongſt them the Marquis de Valdacannas, Brigadier of the King's Armies.

The Advices from Naples are a little extraordinary. We are told that the King Don Carlos is a good deal addicted to Pleaſures. The Retreat he made into the Iſland of Procida was, it ſeems, to recover an impair'd Conſtitution. It's further added, that this Prince having not been able to corrupt the Virtue of the Marchioneſs de Montalere, conceived a ſtrong Deſire towards a Waiting-Woman of the Counteſs de San Eſtevon, who, after his Neapolitan Majeſty had taken ſome Liberties with, was obliged to retire from Court and enter into a Convent.

They write from Lisbon, that the Cold has been ſo exceſſive in Portugal, that almoſt all their Fruit Trees are frozen up, and the Drought is ſo general, that publick Prayers are put up in every Province to procure Rain. The Nuns of Xabregues have received from Rome ſeveral efficacious Relicks to their Aſſiſtance, which are depoſited in their Church with a ſolemn Proceſſion. Among the reſt are, Some of the Virgin Mother's Hair, a Bit of her Night Gown, a Remnant of St. Joſeph's Coat, part of Chriſt's Cradle, &c.

By Letters from Luneville, of March the 2d, we hear the Free Maſons gave a fine Entertainment on Account of the Carnival. It began at Eight in the Evening, with a Concert of Vocal and Inſtrumental Muſick; after which there was a grand Supper, at a Table ſpread for 50 Gueſts, who, as well Ladies as the Gentlemen, were maſqued. The Free Maſons were dreſſed in white Taffata, but the Court of Luneville, which conforms to the Cuſtoms of that of France, would not ſuffer the Free Maſons to appear with their Aprons, or any Badge of their Fraternity, nor to have their uſual Deſert of a Structure of Sugar, encompaſſed with Trowels, Compaſſes, and the like Inſtruments of Maſonry. After the Supper was over, there was a magnificent Ball, at which a new Dance was exhibited, call'd, The Free Maſon's Dance, which was lately executed at the Opera Theatre at Paris, by the famous Miſs Salle. This Ball held till next Morning, and there was Play all the Time in Two Rooms contiguous to that where they danced.

Not long ſince, as the King of Sweden was a Bear Hunting in the Woods near Stockholm, in Company with ſeveral of the Nobility of his Court, he killed a wild Boar of an enormous Size, meaſuring 6 Ells long, and in Reſpects proportionable; the Skin of it is ſtuff'd and otherwiſe preſerv'd, and is now at Stockholm, where Thouſands of People daily reſort to ſee ſo very uncommon a Sight. We hear it will be ſoon brought over hither as a Preſent from his Swediſh Majeſty to the Royal Society.

It's hard to find out the Deſigns of the Court of Spain by the News which comes from thence. Some People poſitively ſay that this Crown forms new Deſigns upon Tuſcany. Others will have it, that France having ſent Troops into the Iſland of Corſica, in Favour of the Genoeſe, Spain will take upon her to declare herſelf Protectreis of King Theodore and the Malecontents, and will alſo ſend Troops to ſupport them. Whatever her Deſigns may be, the French and the Imperialiſts are upon the Quivive in Italy.

Tueſday the fine State Coach belonging to the French Ambaſſador, which it's ſaid, coſt 2000 l. in France, was brought from the Cuſtom houſe to Mr. Baſnet's, the Prince of Wales's Coachmaker, in Piccadilly, to be fitted up for his Excellency's publick Entry.

His Excellency the Count de Cambis, Ambaſſador from the French Court, will make his publick Entry through London, the Beginning of June, the neceſſary Preparations being made for that Purpoſe.

His Excellency is to be entertained Three Days at Somerſet-houſe, at his Majeſty's Expence.

Many Petitions, as well from Towns in England as Scotland in general, relating to the Linen Manufacture, having been preſented to the Hon. Houſe of Commons, praying Encouragement to the ſaid Manufacture, 'tis ſaid a Bill will be brought in to the Houſe this Seſſions, to remove all obſtructions that, at preſent, ſeem to ſtop the Increaſe of that beneficial and advantageous Trade.

We hear that the Inſurance on Ships is riſen conſiderably within theſe few Days to a certain Part of Europe, as well as the Weſt-Indies, and is likely to riſe higher.

We hear from Spain that ſeveral Corſican Officers in his Catholick Majeſty's Service, having deſired Leave to return home, in order to aſſiſt their Countrymen againſt the French and Genoeſe, the King of Spain not only granted their Requeſt, but even gave them the neceſſary Paſſports for their Voyage.

The Report of a Rupture with a Neighbouring Power in a ſhort Time likely to break out, has ſo prevail'd thro' the Kingdom in general, that about 300 Sea Officers have come to Town this Week, to ſolicit their Friends and Patrons for Preferment in the Navy.

About 25 Pieces of Ordinance are tranſported to South-Carolina, for the Defence of Georgia.

We hear that there is 8000 l. granted by Parliament, towards ſettling and eſtabliſhing the new Colony of Georgia.

Some Silver is ordered to be coined at the Tower for the ſaid Colony.

We hear a ſtrong Squadron of Men of War will ſoon be put in Commiſſion; and that ſome Perſons of Diſtinction, who are abroad on Account of the Rebellion againſt his Majeſty King George the Firſt, will ſoon receive his Majeſty's moſt gracious Pardon.

His Excellency Don Thomas Geraldino, the King of Spain's Miniſter at this Court, hath had divers Conferences with the Miniſters of State for ſome Days paſt.

And

And this Day his Excellency had a private Audience of his Majeſty at St. James's.

Yeſterday being the laſt Day of the Hon. the Houſe of Commons receiving Petitions, a great Number were preſented to the Houſe; and we hear there is ſo much Buſineſs before them that they are not likely to riſe ſo ſoon as was expected.

On Saturday the Swallow, Capt. Blake, arrived at Briſtol, in 7 Weeks from Jamaica; he ſays he came out in Company with the Mary, Charming Betty, and Seven Siſters; and as the Spaniards continue to take Ships in the Gulph and Windward Paſſage, they were convoyed by a Man of War.

Yeſterday in the Afternoon a Fire broke out at a Houſe in Whitecroſs-ſtreet, which burnt very furiouſly, but by timely Aſſiſtance was prevented ſpreading. This is the Fourth Time the ſaid Houſe has been on Fire ſince Chriſtmas laſt.

On Friday Night one James Taylor, a young Man, was committed to New Priſon by Juſtice Wroth, for ſending a threatening Letter to Mr. Arthur Ginn, of St. Luke's Pariſh, demanding him to lay 10l. in the Corner of an old ruin'd Houſe by Six o'Clock the ſame Evening, threatening, if he did not comply, his Houſe, himſelf, and all in it, ſhould be conſum'd by Fire: But a Watch being ſet, he was taken looking for the Money at the Place and Time mentioned in the ſaid Letter.

On Thurſday the 9th Inſt. died at his Seat of Stonely Abbey, near Coventry, aged 53, the Right Hon. Edward Lord Leigh, Baron Leigh of Stoneley in the County of Warwick. This Edward Lord Leigh married Mary, ſole Daughter and Heir of Thomas Holbeech, of Fillongly, in the County of Warwick, Eſq; by whom his Lordſhip hath left only one Son, Thomas, Lord Leigh; his eldeſt Son, Edward, dying of the Small-Pox about a Year ago.

Yeſterday Morning died, at his Houſe in Serle-ſtreet, Jaſper Blytham, Eſq; an eminent Solicitor in Chancery, deſervedly admired for his great Abilities by the Gentlemen of his own Profeſſion, and as much eſteem'd and honour'd for his great Integrity by all thoſe who were ſo happy as to employ him, as he is lamented by all that knew him. His Fortune, upwards of 30,000l. he has left to his only Daughter.

The Mary and Anne, Capt. Neal, of Waterford, bound to Cadiz from Limerick, was lately loſt near Dingle, on the Coaſt of Ireland; the Crew, with much Difficulty, were ſaved, but the Cargo was loſt.

The Weſtmoreland, Capt. Shanks, from Leghorn, for London, who arrived in the Downs on Friday laſt, had the Misfortune to run foul of a Dutch Ship off the Start, which immediately founder'd, and the Crew were all drown'd.

London, March 23. The Court of Directors of the Eaſt-India Company has received Letters over Land from Bombay, with the diſagreeable News of the Sow-Rogers taking the Iſland Salſet from the Portugueſe. This Place is within Gun ſhot of Bombay, and uſed to ſupply them with all their Proviſions, the Portugueſe being in Friendſhip with the Engliſh, and the Sow-Rogers, who have got it, are not only Enemies to our Settlement, but likewiſe ſtrongly in the Intereſt of Angria, the famous Indian Pyrate. This Place is of ſuch Conſequence to the Government of Bombay, that the Governor has order'd a Party of Soldiers, and all other neceſſary Preparations to be in Readineſs, in caſe of an Attack at Bombay, which they are in ſome Apprehenſion of; and it's fear'd the Sow-Rogers and Angria will join all their Strength againſt the Engliſh.

Letters from Lisbon, of the 7th of April, N. S. make mention, That the Rio-Janiero Fleet waits the fitting of two Men of War who are bound to Comboy in India, which will be ready to depart in ten Days: Theſe Ships are ſent in order to recover the Iſland of Salſett, which the Moors have lately taken from the Portugueſe. That the French have ſettled the Iſland of Fernandez near to Pernembuke (a Portugueſe Colony) and have built a ſtrong Fort, which his Portugueſe Majeſty has given Orders for the demoliſhing of and diſpoſing the French of that Iſland whoſe Practice is to encroach upon the Rights of other Princes.

By Letters from Baſtia of the 8th Inſt. we hear, that the Controverſies betwixt the French General and the Genoeſe Governor increaſe more and more; the latter pretending the French ſhall communicate all their Diſpatches to him: For which Reaſon the French General has ſtation'd a Felucca about a common Shot's Diſtance from that Place, on Purpoſe for their Letters, and poſted a Guard of 200 Grenadiers near it. This Liberty was granted them by the Corſican Malecontents, who lie in that Neighbourhood with a Body of 20,000 Men. Nay, they even ſend Refreſhments of Veal and green Herbs, from Time to Time, to the French General and his Officers, (to the great Mortification of the Genoeſe) who ſell them Powder and Ball, in Exchange for Cheſnuts and other Proviſions. What all this will come to at laſt, no one can foreſee. They utter ſcarce any thing from their Mouths but Praiſes of their King Theodore.

According to Letters from Leghorn, the Capt. of a Ship arrived from Baſtia, in the Iſland of Corſica, ſays, that 10 or 12,000 Corſican Rebels were in Motion near that Place; that there was the like Number of them in the Provinces of Balagnia and Nebbia, 10,000 near Ajaccio, and 7000 in the Neighbourhood of Porto Vecchio and St. Bonifface: And that tho' the Genoeſe kept five Guarda Coſtas continually cruiſing about that Iſland, the Baron de Newhoff had found Means, within theſe two Months paſt, to ſend in ſeven conſiderable Supplies of Fire Arms and Ammunition.

On Monday laſt at the Aſſizes at Reading, Wingfield was tried on Two Indictments; the firſt for firing Farmer Hanſon's Barn; the ſecond for ſending an incendiary Letter; of both which he was found guilty. He made his Brags in Goal, that if he ſhould be convicted he would not be hang'd, for he would ſend a Letter to the Devil to fetch him; and he behaved ſo impudently upon his Trial, that he was ſeveral times reprimanded by the Court. As ſoon as he receiv'd Sentence, and was taken from the Bar, he kiſs'd his Mother, and dropp'd down dead. A Surgeon was ſent for to bleed him, but to no Purpoſe. This Wingfield is the Perſon who 'tis ſuppos'd, murdered the Man that was found in the Pit, as mention'd in a Paragraph from Reading, in the laſt Gazette.

Boſton, June 5. We are certainly inform'd by an Eye Witneſs, that there is, at New-Haven in Connecticut, a Child named Enoch Turner, who, when he was born, weighed 11 Pound, and when he was 18 Months old (which was on the 2d of laſt Month) weighed 46 Pounds and an Half; he was 3 Feet and 2 Inches high; on the naked Body over the Breaſt 2 Feet round; 10 Inches round juſt above his Knee, 9 round the Calf of his Leg, 6 and a Quarter round the Small of his Leg, 7 round his Arm juſt above his Elbow, 5 round his Wriſt; (theſe Dimenſions being taken from his Father's Mouth) and his Strength is in Proportion to his Bigneſs, for he can carry a Pail of Water almoſt full. He has many Symptoms of Ripeneſs even to a Lad of 16 Years old, and his Voice is like that of a Man grown.

Boſton, June 12. By Capt. Gardner, who arrived here Yeſterday from Jamaica, we are inform'd, that coming thro' the Windward Paſſage, he met with a Spaniſh Sloop, who had 60 Men, and came on board of him, cut up his lower Deck to ſee if he had any Logwood in his Hold, but finding none, they ſtripp'd him and his Men of what Cloaths they had and left him: The Captain happened to have on board Two Piſtoles and Twelve Bitts, which he wiſely threw out of the Cabbin Window, fearing that if they had found it, would have made a Pretence of it to carry him away, as they have done many others.

Rhode-Iſland, June 9. Capt. Freebody and Wyat are arrived here from Jamaica, who inform us, that his Excellency Governor Trelawney was ſafe arrived at Jamaica, attended by Six Men of War, viz. Two of 70 Guns, Two of 60 Guns, One of 50 Guns, and One of 40. 'Tis reported theſe Ships are to cruiſe on the Spaniards.
